Khrushchev Again Cites War Threat

Use Of Force To Reach Berlin Due To Cause Conflict

By HAROLD K. MILKS
MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev warned today that any attempt by the Western Allies to shoot their way to West Berlin would mean war with the Soviet Union.
"No encroachments against East German territory, in the center of which Berlin is situated, can be tolerated—either by land, water or air," Khrushchev declared in a speech at Tula, an industrial center 120 miles south of Moscow.
Khrushchev said some Western statesmen "try to frighten us by saying if we prevent them reaching West Berlin, they would begin to shoot."

"Would Mean War"
"But to everybody it is evident that if they begin to shoot, this will mean the beginning of war," the Soviet premier declared.

The speech, given Tuesday, was made public today by the Soviet news agency Tass.
The Western powers have proposed a Big Four foreign ministers parley on Germany this spring but have not said what actions they would take if the Soviets carry out their threat to give East Germany control of Allied supply routes to their West Berlin garrisons.

There have been reports armed convoys or an airlift have been proposed to defy the East Germans, who already control civilian traffic to and from Berlin. The Western allies contend control of their military traffic is a Soviet occupation responsibility which the Soviets cannot transfer to the East German Communists without approval of the other three occupation powers. The Allies refuse to deal with the East German regime, which they do not recognize as a legitimate government.

Khrushchev indicated the Soviet Union would build up transfer of its occupation powers to the East German government by signing a World War II peace treaty with the Communist German regime.

Prepared To Sign Treaty
The Soviet bloc he said, is prepared to sign a peace treaty with both West and East Germany—"or with one of them." If the Soviet Union signs such a treaty with East Germany, he continued, that nation "will acquire all the rights and obligations of a sovereign state."

Angry Autoist Uses Pistol On Traffic Lights

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Every time James Daniels, 42, approached the intersection of North Third and Vine streets here, the "walk-wait" pedestrian lights at the intersection would turn to "wait," he told police.
This, he said, irritated him. Tuesday afternoon, when the light turned to "wait," Daniels whipped out a revolver and shot out the light, police reported.
Officers charged him with destruction of property, carrying a concealed weapon and discharging firearms in the city.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Miss Augusta Dixon, executive secretary of the Colonial Dames of America, died Monday at her home here.

Nixon Sees Kennedy Likely Demo Choice

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon, a top prospect for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination, thinks Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts is the likeliest choice to head the Democratic ticket.
Nixon handicapped the Democratic hopefuls at a press conference Tuesday afternoon. Coming up fast behind Kennedy, he said, are three more senators, Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota and Stuart Symington of Missouri.
"And I think Adlai Stevenson is still a very likely possibility, even though he has been defeated twice," Nixon added.
"Kennedy is handling himself with great skill," Nixon said. "Johnson is making the most of his fine opportunity to prove his talents as majority leader of the Senate. Humphrey has probably gained more in the respect of his colleagues than any other senator I've known, and Symington is developing as the likeliest compromise candidate."

Cuban Rebel Firing Squad Kills Blanco

HAVANA (AP)—A revolutionary firing squad executed ex-Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco early today as a major war criminal inside hushed La Cabana Fortress.
The 51-year-old career officer in ex-President Fulgencio Batista's army went to his death calmly in a quiet setting—a stark contrast to his original trial in the brassy Havana Sports Arena.
"The terse government announcement that the execution had been carried out 16 minutes after midnight gave no indication whether the veteran soldier had got his last wish—the right to give the order to fire."

Prime Minister Fidel Castro had branded Sosa Blanco a mass murderer and virtually demanded his death. The unofficial total of executions carried out by the revolutionary regime now is 303.
Sosa Blanco got a fleeting lease on life—and a second trial—after the carnival atmosphere of his first trial Jan. 23 brought adverse criticism from abroad. The same three-man tribunal tried him again, this time in a quiet courtroom, and came up Tuesday with the same guilty verdict.

On the diplomatic front, Cuba directly challenged three Latin American countries which Castro charges are oppressed by dictators.
Foreign Minister Roberto Agramonte said that Cuba would withdraw from the Organization of American States if Paraguay, Nicaragua and the Dominican Republic remain members.

Fireman Fined On False Calls

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Fellow firemen got to wondering why an 18-year-old member of a suburban volunteer fire company was first on the scene at three false alarms.
In court Tuesday, William H. Baughman admitted he had turned in the false alarms and explained: "I wanted to show off that I was a fireman."
He was fined $200 and placed on two years' probation.

Warmup Due On Weekend

BALTIMORE (AP)—Five-day forecast: Fair Thursday through Saturday except for snow flurries in the mountains Thursday and Friday. Precipitation likely again Sunday or Monday. Amounts of precipitation will total one-fourth inch or less. Colder Thursday and Friday with a warming trend over the weekend. Temperatures for the period will average about 3 degrees below seasonal normals. Normal lows vary from the upper teens in the mountains to the upper 20s and low 30s in the east.

Greeks Press For Vote On Cyprus Issue

LONDON (AP)—Greek Cypriot leaders pressed Archbishop Makarios today to demand a plebiscite in which the people of Cyprus could accept or reject the proposed constitution for the strategic Mediterranean island.
The conference on Cyprus independence was itself suspended until Turkish Premier Adnan Menderes recovers from injuries suffered in the plane crash Tuesday which killed 15 of the 24 persons riding with him.
Informants said there was widespread uneasiness about the proposed constitution among the 23 advisers accompanying Makarios, who is the unchallenged leader of the island's Greek Cypriot majority.
The escape of Menderes, 60, one of 10 survivors of the Viscount crash in the fog near London Tuesday, was described by airport officials as a near miracle.

Silent Screen Actress Kathryn Adams Dies

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Kathryn Adams, 65, silent screen actress who appeared in such early films as "The Squaw Man" and "The Purple Sage," died Tuesday at Presbyterian Hospital.

New Satellite Weather Eye Flashing Data

WASHINGTON (AP)—America's newest earth-satellite streaked through space today, flashing back hourly data that may open a new era in man's ability to forecast the weather.
Jubilant scientists at National Aeronautics and Space Administration headquarters reported that weather monitoring equipment aboard the 20-inch satellite was "working perfectly."

"We haven't found a single fault yet," a NASA spokesman said.
Among other things, the basketball-size globe is designed to spot and report cloud conditions in an experiment designed eventually to help forecasters predict storms.
However, NASA officials reiterated that it probably will be two weeks before electrical signals transmitted from this satellite can be processed and findings reported.

By that time radio batteries which report findings of the satellite's weather eyes, a pair of photoelectric cells, are expected to have gone dead.
But the satellite itself, a 2½-pound sphere launched Tuesday from Cape Canaveral, Fla., may continue to orbit through space for at least a decade, possibly for centuries. Not until the effects of atmospheric drag can be observed and calculated will a more definite life span be known.
Triggered by radio signals from ground stations, the satellite's tiny radio transmitter flashes back weather data approximately once each hour.

Front Royal High School Has Boycott

White Pupils Stay Away As 22 Negro Children Show Up

By ED YOUNG
FRONT ROYAL, Va. (AP)—Twenty-two Negro children but not a white child showed up for enrollment today as Warren County High School reopened after five months' closure.
The Negro youngsters arrived in groups of three and four, and walked slowly up the hill to the entrance.
A few townspeople, some white children of school age, gathered but no words were spoken to the Negro children.
Barriades Set Up
Police had set up barriades at the entrance and allowed no one except the pupils on the grounds. Two policemen manned the gates, others were at the top of the hill, fronting the school. Sheriff's deputies and state police were stationed along the street leading to the school.

As each child passed through the barricade, his name was checked by Warren County's school supervisor, Brent Sandridge. The first group arrived only 15 minutes before registration was to begin for classes starting Thursday. Within the next 10 minutes the other 10 had arrived, three or four to a car. None came on buses.
The group of 22 included 10 boys and 12 girls.
The handsome, relatively new 1,000-pupil school was the first of nine in Virginia shut down in September to prevent integration. It is the last of the nine to reopen.
Warren County joins Norfolk, Arlington and Alexandria among localities which have integrated public schools.
Classes Begin Tomorrow
School officials predicted Negro students, admitted here under federal court order, would outnumber white students when the day's registration is completed about 11 a. m. Classes begin Thursday.
"I doubt that more than five or 10 or 12 white children will show up and even that might be an exaggeration—it's only a guess. There might not be a single one," said School Supt. Q. D. Gasque.
Nearly 800 of the white pupils who expected to enroll at Warren County High last fall now are enrolled in private educational facilities here and will stay in these classes until the school year is over. More than 100 others, by Gasque's estimate, are attending schools outside the county.

Godfrey Picked As Replacement For Ed Murrow

NEW YORK (AP)—Arthur Godfrey was selected Tuesday by Columbia Broadcasting System to take over the "Person to Person" television show during Edward R. Murrow's absence.
Murrow said Monday he will take a year's leave of absence from CBS beginning July 1, as permitted under the terms of his contract. He said he plans some leisurely traveling, reading and listening.
During his leave Murrow will continue "This Small World," a filmed Sunday evening TV presentation.

Boss Of Carpenters Gives Probe Pledge

By NORMAN WALKER
SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—AFL-CIO leaders will spare Carpenters Union President Maurice Hucheson from action to nullify his term if he agrees to launch a thorough corruption probe of the 850,000-member union.

Responsible labor federation sources reported that solution today to the hottest problem facing the AFL-CIO chiefs meetings in this sunny Caribbean winter resort.

Hucheson is under indictment in Indiana in connection with a highway land scandal. He is also under AFL-CIO fire for refusing to answer questions posed by the Senate Labor-Management Committee in Washington.
Top AFL-CIO leaders were reported disposed to accept Hucheson's written assurance that he never misused union funds. This would remove the reason for ousting him from the AFL-CIO council.
The uncommunicative Hucheson failed to show up last fall in response to an invitation to explain to fellow council members his refusal to answer the Senate committee's questions.
Hucheson ignored a similar summons to the current meeting. Instead he reportedly wrote the council again disclaiming any personal union corruption but agreeing to launch a widespread probe of scandal charges against his outfit.

Although Hucheson's letter did not mention it, AFL-CIO leaders understand such a probe would include the affairs of Charles Johnson, boss of the Carpenters in New York state. According to recent testimony before the Senate committee, Johnson and two relatives received approximately $450,000 in union salaries and expenses over a three-year period.
Cooler and dry weather prevailed in the flood zone as cold air from Canada moved southward into most of the Midwest and the northern Texas Panhandle and Oklahoma.
Skies were cloudy in many sections of the country but there were only two major wet bells. Rain continued along the Pacific Coast from central California to Canada. Snow fell across most of the Ohio Valley northward to southern sections of Wisconsin and Michigan.

Secretary's 'Substitute' Not Slated

West Allies Will Not Start Battle Over West Berlin

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said emphatically today that if there is any shooting over West Berlin it will be started by the Soviet Union—and not by the Western Allies.

The President told a news conference the Allies have no intention of taking the first step in a shooting war.

He was commenting on an assertion by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev that any attempt by the Western Allies to shoot their way to West Berlin would mean war.

Eisenhower said Khrushchev must have been talking about shooting by Communist forces to stop the Western Allies from doing their duty.

Allies To Pledge
The President was alluding to pledges by the Allies to maintain their rights of communication with West Berlin.

Eisenhower underscored his position by setting forth his view twice during the 30-minute news conference.

On other matters, the President said:

DULLES—He wants John Foster Dulles to continue as secretary of state as long as Dulles believes he is in shape to carry on.

Eisenhower said he has discussed with no one the possibility of replacing Dulles in the Cabinet. "As for reports that Dulles tried to resign after learning he has cancer again, Eisenhower said Dulles never has made any specific statement to him about stepping aside in connection with this latest illness."

But, the President went on, the idea of Dulles being willing to resign is no new thing. Since the start of the administration's tenure, Eisenhower said, Dulles has been telling him that he would resign at once if Eisenhower ever should feel that he (Dulles) had become a national or a political liability.

As he did last week, Eisenhower heaped praise on the ailing Dulles. The President called him his closest friend and confidant in the government. There is no equal, Eisenhower said, to Dulles' wisdom and knowledge in the foreign affairs field.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—A local doctor asked the health department to help him find out why he was getting a jag on at work.
He told W. B. Prothro, the health officer, he felt tipsy when he finished his job each day. He said things were getting so bad that his wife had threatened to leave him and his boss had accused him of tipping.

The health department discovered the man worked with trichloroethylene, an industrial solvent, and the fumes were making him woozy.

Ventilation, Prothro said, sobered him up.

Father Kills Sons, Himself In Wake Of Custody Battle

MIDDLETOWN, Del. (UPI)—A brooding father was reported today to have killed himself and his two young sons in his automobile because of fears he would lose them in a custody battle with his estranged wife.

Police said the father, Clarence M. Sapp, 35, of Middletown took the lives of his boys, Donald, 10, and Richard, 8, and himself by running the exhaust pipe into the car in which Sapp had written of his intention of taking the lives of his sons and then committing suicide.

A muskrat trapper, William K. Morrow, discovered the bodies Tuesday in the carbon monoxide-filled auto parked in a rural area south of nearby Ready Point Monday night and drove around Bridge over the Chesapeake and until they fell asleep before parking near the canal.

Gen. Marshall Showing Signs Of Weakening

PT. BLISS, N.C. (UPI)—For the first time since he suffered a stroke Jan. 15, General of the Army George C. Marshall has shown some signs of weakening.

Col. G. M. Powell, chief of medical services at the Army's Womack General Hospital here, reported Tuesday that Marshall was "moderately weaker" but that "otherwise there is no significant change" in his condition.

The 78-year-old retired soldier-statesman was rushed to the hospital here Jan. 15 after he suffered the mild stroke at his winter home at Pinehurst, N.C.

Powell said at that time that there was no evidence of paralysis and that Marshall's chances of recovery "are good unless he suffers another stroke."

'Right To Work' Measure Killed

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—A proposed "right to work" constitutional amendment is a dead issue in the 24th New Mexico Legislature.

Atty. Gen. Frank Zinn ruled Tuesday that the tie-breaking vote cast by Lt. Gov. Ed V. Mead when the Senate approved the measure 17-16 Friday was invalid and the resolution thus was not adopted.

Later in the day the House postponed indefinitely consideration of a similar resolution. This had the effect of killing it.

Khrushchev

sovereignty will be resolutely refused, irrespective of whether this violation will be on water, on land or in the air," Khrushchev warned.

Khrushchev hailed as "worthy of attention" a call by Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont) for direct unity talks between the East and West German governments and for a central European zone free of nuclear weapons.

Mansfield told the Senate last week that West Germany should abandon its opposition to dealing directly with the East Germans on the unity issue.

Crazed Negro Kills Two Girls After He's Fired

NEW YORK (AP)—"Someday you're going to see my name in the headlines—one of the greatest artists in the world," Ronell Johnson, 27, told fellow employees.

Part of the prophecy came true Tuesday.

Johnson, fired from his job as a shipping clerk in a Manhattan textile firm, flew into a murderous rage and shot two pretty office receptionists to death.

He was held today on a homicide charge.

"He was mad at the whole world," sobbed his wife Mercedes, 24, mother of his five daughters. "He has a terrible temper. Once he gets angry he is uncontrollable."

For Johnson, the shootings were the climax of a young life tortured by wild ambition. Johnson, a Negro, considered himself an unrecognized genius whose weird paintings would bring him fame and fortune. Scorn infuriated him.

"They laughed at my paintings," he said of the two slain girls, Lorraine Rosenberg, 20, and Elaine Fallick, 18, who worked in his office.

A beatnik type, Johnson wore a beret and carried an orange-and-black striped cane.

When he was fired he took his discharge pay, went to a pawn shop and bought a hunting rifle and 50 cartridges. He returned to the office and fired twice—then the gun jammed. Three company executives disarmed him.

"If that damned gun hadn't jammed I'd have killed them all," he said. "I'd have killed and killed."

MEXICO — His scheduled talks with Mexico's President Adolfo Lopez Mateos in Acapulco, Mexico, Thursday and Friday will give him a chance, primarily, to pay his respects to that country's chief executive.

Eisenhower added they will discuss matters of common interest. And from what he hears about Acapulco's weather, the visit is sure to be pleasant, the President commented.

BUDGET—He doesn't see why the term balanced budget is becoming a bad word.

Eisenhower made that remark when told an unnamed Republican senator had suggested that the President is making a fetish of his determination to maintain a balanced budget.

Observing that there is a prospective deficit of about 13 billion dollars for the current year, Eisenhower commented that the administration has accepted that and has been guilty of no fetish in doing so.

As for the fiscal year starting July 1 and the administration's proposal that revenue and spending be kept in balance, Eisenhower said crisply that if we can't live within our means in a time of developing prosperity, then just when are we going to be able to do so.

Red Chinese Combating Food Shortage

Editor's Note — "Land for the peasants" was one of the early cries of the Chinese revolutionaries. And when the Communists took over, peasants got the land—briefly. In the third of five articles on Red China, based on his extensive travels there, Dr. Chandrasekhar tells how Peking tackled the country's food problem.

By Dr. Sripati Chandrasekhar
Copyright, 1959.

By The Associated Press

It is natural that in any underdeveloped country the problem of agriculture and food supply should be of paramount importance. This is particularly true in China, where famine has stalked the land from time immemorial and grain has been imported since 1721.

During the last 100 years, what body gets at least a bowl of rice with a series of wars with Western nations, continuous Japanese aggression after 1931, a 30-year civil war and a six-year World War II, there has been a constant state of political unrest, economic dislocation and recurring famine. About 25 years ago, when China, in the throes of widespread famines, appealed to the International Red Cross, the Red Cross designed to meet national emergencies but that famine in China was not an emergency but a chronic state of affairs.

What have the Communists done to solve the food problem? While there was some shortage today from the quantitative point of view. No one starves in China now. Though the common man, while holding grain from a starving peasant's family, raping the peasant's daughters or taking his women as concubines, down to brutal murder.

It is possible that some landlords were guilty of these crimes, but there were no lawyers to defend them. Communist justice is of a different kind. Most landlords pleaded guilty, for the simple reason that they knew their end was near no matter what their defense.

It is estimated about two million landlords were executed. Now the land was available.

The second stage involves the distribution of land to landless peasants. A very complicated machinery was set in motion to distribute the land on the basis of numerous criteria. The average peasant received a few mu of land. (A mu equals about a sixth of an acre.) There was jubilation among 500 million peasants, but it did not last long.

Within two years, the third stage was launched. It was said that private ownership of land was neither socialism nor communism, that it was both a serious menace and effort involved in this reorganization. With this collectivization the state took away the land which it had so ceremoniously distributed to the peasants only a few years earlier.

While collective ownership and cooperative farming increased the yield, China was not yet out of the woods from the point of view of food supply. China's population had been increasing by a net annual addition of 12 to 15 million during these years.

There the fourth and present stage — the people's communes, which were raising such heart-searching during the last few days that I was in China.

City Estimates Cost Of Relocation Project

The cost of relocating water and sewer lines for the Cumberland Thruway will exceed $130,000, Mayor J. Edwin Keech estimated in a letter to the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, which had requested the information.

Mayor Keech said the only portion of the Thruway for which a definite location has been determined at this time is from Long Hill, in the Lindersville area, to Maryland Avenue.

The cost of relocating water and sewer lines in this area, he said, has been estimated by City Engineer C. R. Nuzum at $45,000. The estimate, he added, does not include the relocation of the water line to the Naval Armory, which will entail some cost.

The Mayor explained that from Long Hill to Maryland Avenue is about one-fourth of the length of the entire Thruway and most persons would think they could

But he said the theory cannot be used here since the Thruway runs very close to the Ridgedale Reservoir and its main transmission lines.

The cost of relocating water lines in the Ridgedale Reservoir area, he added, will be considerable, so the cost of the entire line relocation program will certainly exceed $130,000.

Mayor Keech told the Chamber it will be advised of all other Thruway costs as soon as estimates are available.

The lines will be relocated by whatever means is most expedient for the city, according to another letter to John J. McMullen, SMC chairman.

Mayor Keech said he understands that contractors bidding on Thruway projects will include bids for work which is the definite responsibility of the city.

It is understood, he said, that a clause will be included so, after tabulation of bids, the city may accept or reject bids for the relocation of utilities.

He said that if the city is unwilling to accept the contractor's bid for the relocation of sewer and water lines, it can proceed with the work with its own forces or by other contractors.

OUR COUNTRY
The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union forever.—Morris.

Teen Age Drivers

RELENTLESS though it be, the campaign for safer driving often seems to produce too few encouraging results. Consequently, we can't afford to overlook opportunities to make substantial inroads on the problem. One place this prospect may exist is among our youthful drivers. As a group they are more inclined than their elders either to become involved in or to be responsible for automobile accidents. According to the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies, young men under 25, from coast to coast, have the worst driving records. Though they represent just 15 per cent of all drivers, they account for some 25 per cent of all the accidents.

WITHIN THE younger age brackets, differences are less clear, but some studies tend to show that the youngest drivers are the poorest. A Connecticut motor vehicle bureau survey showed that the percentage of 16-year-olds involved in accidents and the percentage held at fault were both twice as great as the percentages for 17-year-olds. Figures indicate further that the younger drivers tend to become involved in the more serious accidents. Most studies by official state agencies, safety organizations and insurance companies usually support these general findings. The accident statistics, incidentally, do not yield the same conclusions for young girl drivers, whose record is as good as that of adults. More and better driver training is, of course, one big and obvious answer. Many schools offer it now, but many do not. Opinions vary as to whether it should be a school function, though no one questions the need for the instruction.

POSSIBLY WE need more uniformity in state laws on the licensing of young drivers. There is wide disparity in this field, with 16 years the minimum in some places despite the evidence of high accident rates at that level. Maybe, too, Americans as parents need to reconsider the wisdom of allowing their youngsters to have cars at school. A study made by a Rexburg, Idaho, high school found no A students driving cars to school, just 15 per cent of B students doing it, but 41 per cent of the C's with cars, 71 per cent of the D's and 83 per cent of the E's. It's become quite the accepted thing to let the lad of 16 or a bit older get behind the wheel of a car—yours or his. The question, growing more acute is: "Should it be so readily accepted?"

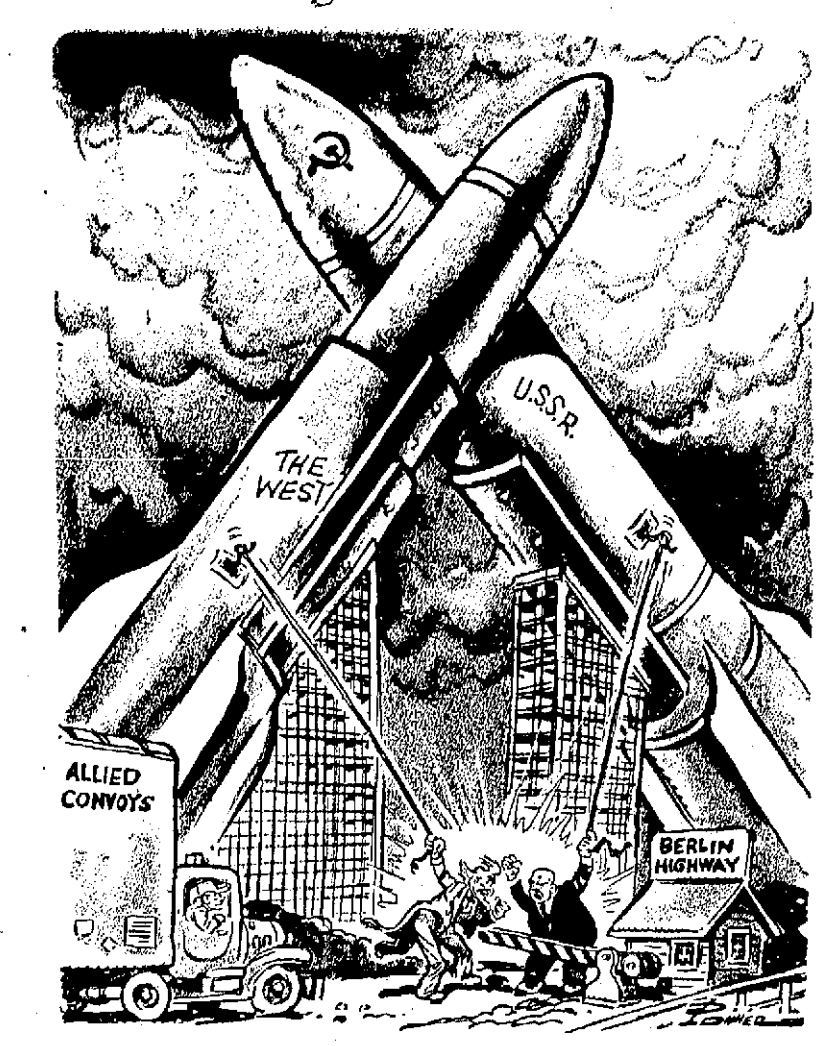

Hard To Replace

IT IS INTERESTING to note that as Secretary of State Dulles enters upon another physical ordeal, one of too long a series, his prestige among some of America's foreign friends is higher than it perhaps has ever been. His recent labors on his European tour, aimed at developing a united front between Britain, West Germany, France and the United States on the Berlin and general German question, have helped to persuade Western leaders of his solid devotion to their cause. Dulles often has been the butt of criticism from our allies, and it is hardly fair to say he is their favorite secretary of state. Nevertheless there has been a slowly growing appreciation of his dogged, Spartan efforts for peace. And it is further recognized that he is not only his own secretary of state but is the found of American foreign policy. No replacement, however talented and wise, could likely fill his shoes at this important turn in East-West history. Not only Americans, but Britishers, Frenchmen and Germans hope for Dulles' swift recovery.

Going Whole Hog

SOME OF OUR old cliches we keep peddling years after they no longer represent accurate fact, unaware that they are not only worn but meaningless. "Eating like a hog" is not one of them, as federal livestock specialists have freshly reminded us. They point out that today America's hogs, pampered darlings that they are, eat more processed goodies than they ever did, even while their main staple continues to be corn. Nowadays they get a lot of high protein soybean meal, meat scraps, and "vitamin supplements," whatever they are. Output of commercially mixed hog feed has almost tripled in the last 10 years. In 1952 it shot up 35 per cent over 1951. Evidently word has reached the hogs that more and more humans are trying to match their ample diet. They seem determined to keep ahead in the race to satisfy inner space.

New State Secretary Seems Inevitable

WASHINGTON—For all intents and purposes, the long career of John Foster Dulles as Secretary of State is over. The President will not withdraw his caveat: It will be up to Secretary Dulles and his family to decide how long he wishes to keep the file. The harsh medical facts are that he has had a recurrence of cancer, now inoperable. The radiation treatment prescribed is no easy matter in itself. It is enough to say that it is unlikely that he will find it possible to direct any part of the operations or planning of the State Department from his Walter Reed bed. At the most optimistic, his treatment will require many weeks. SECRETARY Dulles will be 71 this month and he will have been Secretary of State for more than six years—a long time in that office. He had informed associates before his 70th birthday that he planned to retire at that time. But the pressure of world affairs plus the conviction that he was required to deal with them kept him in harness. History will record Secretary Dulles' contributions whether for good or ill, but it is only true to say that his career is coming to a close on a high note. His recent visit to London, Paris and Bonn was a success in that it has produced a closer unity among our allies in the face of the critical negotiations with the Soviet Union over the future of Berlin and Germany. THE WHITE House is shushing suggestions of a change in the office of Secretary. This is a tribute to Dulles. But events are pressing relentlessly. A conference of allied foreign ministers is scheduled for Paris next month to discuss answers to the Russian challenge on Germany. There have been suggestions that it be moved to Washington in view of Secretary Dulles' illness. It is beyond reason to believe that he could take part, wherever it is held. WITHOUT the title of Secretary, without the authority of either the office or intimacy with President Eisenhower, neither Acting Secretary Herbert nor Undersecretary Dillon would carry determinative weight in such a conference. Without question there will be pressure from the Senate and elsewhere for the appointment of an active and full-fledged Secretary of State soon. A dozen or so names are being mentioned, including those of Herter and Dillon. Of them all, however, those of the chief U. S. delegate to the United Nations, Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., and General Alfred Gruenther, head of the American Red Cross, doubtless stand at the top of the list. AMBASSADOR Lodge has been dealing with the representatives of the Soviet Union for half a dozen years in the United Nations. All that time he has been attending Cabinet meetings, so he is well-informed. General Gruenther, President Eisenhower's old stand-in at NATO headquarters, is an experienced diplomat and administrator who has the advantage of a close personal friendship with the President, closer even than that of Secretary Dulles. Secretary Dulles has the opportunity of timing his exit. It is very probable that he also will be given the opportunity of nominating his successor. (United Features-Syndicate, Inc.)

Right-To-Work Laws Battle Continues

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Far from having been ended by its five-to-one defeat in state elections last November, the battle to get "right-to-work" laws on the books is continuing. Principal battlegrounds to ban compulsory unionism during the coming year are centered in a dozen states. There are 30 states which don't have such laws. Nineteen do. With most state legislatures in session this year, right-to-work bills are ready for introduction in Connecticut, Delaware and Wyoming. Other possibilities for this category are Maryland, Montana and Vermont, according to National Right-to-Work Committee headquarters here. New Mexico legislature has a resolution before it to submit the question to voters in a 1950 referendum. This is the basic issue in most states—whether to put a law on the books by action of the legislature alone, or by submitting a constitutional amendment to the voters. GOV. LOVELESS of Iowa has asked his state legislature to repeal its right-to-work law, but there is considerable resistance from rural county lawmakers. California, Idaho and Washington—in which states right-to-work amendments lost last November—are continuing their drives to get right-to-work legislation on the books. In the other two states where referendums lost last fall, proponents in Ohio will continue an educational campaign before trying another test and Colorado has not decided its course. MEANWHILE, the man given principal credit for Kansas approval of a right-to-work amendment has been brought to Washington to help in a national drive. He is Reed Larsen, 38-year-old electrical engineer, executive vice president of the Kansans for the Right-to-Work Movement for four and a half years. As the new executive vice president of National Right-to-Work Committee, under President William T. Harrison, Larsen will be available to share his experience in organizing the Kansas campaign. Legislation had been defeated in Kansas twice before—once on Ex-Gov. Fred Hall's veto. But in say that his career is coming to a close on a high note. His recent visit to London, Paris and Bonn was a success in that it has produced a closer unity among our allies in the face of the critical negotiations with the Soviet Union over the future of Berlin and Germany. THE WHITE House is shushing suggestions of a change in the office of Secretary. This is a tribute to Dulles. But events are pressing relentlessly. Looking Backward

25 YEARS AGO
February 18, 1928
Sunday
PLEA REJECTED—The French government refuses to discuss rearmament with Chancellor Hitler of Germany "while the Reich is rearming," and the "Nazi menace" continues.
WORK FORCE SLASH—Harry L. Hopkins, federal director of the CWA, announces that 7,500 of Maryland's 40,500 CWA workers will be dropped from the rolls by Friday. The state's quota after February 23 will be 33,000, excluding persons on federal projects.
RECALLED TO WORK—Nearly 200 furloughed employees of the N&G Taylor Timpale mill are ordered to report for work after several weeks of idleness. The plant is to resume full operation by midnight. Some 100 persons are to report for work tomorrow at Klotz Throwing mill.
ICE COVERS LAKES—Lakes Gordon and Koon, sources of the city water supply, are covered with ice more than a foot thick. The ice is so clear that the bottoms of the lakes can be seen in the less-deep lagoons.

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK—The snow has fallen and stopped and now a slanting, cold rain is falling, with the temperature at 35 degrees, just enough to turn it all into an icy, soupy mess. You decide against driving your own car in it during the home-going rush hour of cabs, cars and busses. You wait for a cab for 15 uncomfortable minutes, the wind whipping the corner and the rain sagging it, and you decide to walk four cross-town blocks from 10th Avenue to Sixth Avenue, where you are to join George Solotareff and Joe DiMaggio in a bite before seeing Play Number Four about the late Lizzie Borden, the Fall River mystery. AS YOU PASS Broadway you run into lovely Carol Kelly, of the dancing Kellys, and she tells you with some merriment that she has found a circular apartment near East 57th Street. "At least no man can corner me in it," she giggles, and goes on. You recognize the little joke as not original with her, but start to thinking and remember that back in the early '30s a female novelist, now dead, spent a small fortune having an apartment in that area made circular. And painted dead white. Something like living inside a silo. Once done and the contractor's hills paid, she moved in and found that the curved walls and unbroken white made it impossible for her to write. The monotonous paralyzing her creative impulse. And having settled all that in your mind, you arrive at the restaurant and join the party. THEY HAVE Doc Marcus, an amiable magician and clown, with them and in the middle of holding a fork in one hand and a spoon in the other, Doc says: "You have a dollar bill?" You fish one out, he puts the silver down, and with just his finger tips folds it into a small square. He closes his thus far open hands around it, twists twice, opens his hands and shows you a $5 bill. You say you would like this kind of a deal all day long and he squashes the $5 bill into a ball, throws it into the ash tray, mills it around in the ashes and brings out your original dollar bill, slightly soiled but intact. LATER, ALL the gents but Doc, ordered imported, honey figs in individual jars, a show of ostentation if you ever saw it, and Doc says: "I'll give three-to-one every man here has his own teeth." We all ask why and he says: "Simple. People with plates don't order figs. The seeds get behind the plates and are uncomfortable." Later, we walk across the street to the 54th Street Theatre and see "Legend of Lizzie," a dramatization of the Lizzie Borden case in Fall River in 1892. Playwright Reginald Lawrence makes it plain that he believes Lizzie did not axe her stepmother and father to death and uses one thing known to all students of crime: the well-born churchy people of Fall River rallied around Lizzie during her arrest and trial and did all they could to help her—but from the moment of her acquittal they shunned her stonily and she has lived 30 desperate lonely, rejected years in the murder house. STILL LATER, trudging back to your car in the sleet and floating ice, you try to think out what motivation Lizzie had for such brutal killings. Her father was a man of discipline and thrift, but not unduly so for a banker of that period. Her stepmother was a kind and considerate woman, not at all given to imposing on Lizzie or ordering her about. Actually, she tried to win Lizzie's affections. Also, Lizzie had a strange, granitic hatred for men. One young man courted her and she almost fell in love with him but then, in Lawrence's words, said to the boy: "I have had a dream, but you are not in it." Obviously, she did commit the murders and obviously had no great justification except that she probably was insane to a degree and had a persecution mania. On this note, you run into a man who once served time for murder—second degree—and you stop and talk briefly and he asks you: "How was the show?" Trying to be tactful you merely say: "All right, not great, not awful." "About that dame in Massachusetts who murdered her folks, isn't it?" he persists. So you say, "That's right," and he says: "Crazy thing to do," and bids you good-night and you both wander away in separate directions. (United Features-Syndicate, Inc.)

Right On The Line

NEW YORK — The "Match Game," and the precise year Babe Ruth hit his 60 home runs, has been replaced at the leading gambling gambits round New York saloons, a drinking friend tells me. What has replaced these hardy perennials betokens the change in our times. The new gag is to bet a guy he can't spell the name of the most powerful individual in the world today—Khrushchev. You'll win at least ten bucks for every dollar you drop. But you'd better write it down yourself, for your own protection. THE SIX-DAY bike race is coming back to New York next month. Seems like an announcement to the effect that Tony Pastor's is reopening with a singing waiter named Izzy Baline (Irving Berlin). Or that the Albany Night Boat has been reconditioned. As an apple-checked lad, we covered the last big act at Madison Square Garden. We don't remember who won, but one memory about the diet of these old creatures lingers. A PANTING cyclist climbed off his bike and fell semi-conscious upon his cot in the infield. He called weakly for his manager and blurted something in Flemish. The manager called a waiter. "Two eggs," he said in behalf of his wounded flier. "How you want 'em, Mac?" the bum asked. The manager seemed surprised. "To suck of course," he said impatiently. We never went back to another six-day bike race. JOE E. LEWIS writes from the Eden Roc, in Miami Beach: "I had to tell an El Rancho Vegas audience recently, 'You people have enjoyed yourself enough. Now I'm going to sing.'" SPEAKING OF the Garden, who would you say promoted there over the longest span? Tex Rickard? Mike Jacobs? Ned Irish? Jim Norris? Wrong, Nat Mager. This will be his fifteenth straight year as impresario of the National Antiques Show — which opens the first of next month. Old Nat has gathered $20,000,000 of classy junk for this, his major effort. There will be 350 especially rare pieces, in honor of Henrik Hudson's discovery of Madison Square Garden in 1609. THIS IS A BIG and sometimes dizzy sport. The show draws 125,000 fans in a week, at $1.55 per head. Sales reach as much as $7,000,000 before the last dwager is thrown out. They've got to throw her out, by the way, or she'd be trampled by the elephants marching in. The circus moves in minutes after Nat's last bit of precious Lowestoft is carried out. UNLESS YOU'RE very careful, this year you'll be able to pick up some real dandies at the show. The piano that was on the stage of Ford's Theater the night Lincoln was shot, as well as pianos used by Francis Scott Key and Marie Antoinette. Jim Bishop won't let that first one go, you can bet. Then there will be Commodore Perry's watch key and bob once owned by Franklin D. Roosevelt's great great grandfather. We understand Westbrook Pegler will go the distance when that bidding starts. And a few other things like that, including perhaps an absent-minded old elephant who might show up one day early. (United Press International)

TIFFIN, Ohio — School bus driver Jesse Osborn telling how he gunned his bus loaded with students across a collapsing bridge: "I saw one end of the bridge come loose as I drove across. Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK — We have a new morning ritual in our home. The other morning I was in the bathroom and shaving when my young daughter, Tracy Ann, entered carrying Lady Dottie, her cat. Without saying a word Tracy walked over and flushed the toilet three times, while the cat, held aloft in her arms, watched with an eager intensity. As they started to march out, I asked: "What's the big idea?" "Nothing, daddy. Lady Dottie just likes to watch waterfalls." "Well, take her out in the kitchen and turn on the faucet there," I told her crossly. "I can't." "Why not?" "It's not the same thing," said Tracy, with that air of exaggerated patience children adopt when explaining something to their ignorant elders. "Lady Dottie doesn't like to watch kitchen waterfalls. She likes bathroom waterfalls." NOW, EVERY morning, whether I'm late to work or not, all operations in my bathroom halt while Lady Dottie watches her quota of three waterfalls. We have another bathroom but for some reason Lady Dottie doesn't like to watch waterfalls in it. I cite this incident only to show how a cat that comes into a house as a guest stays to become its boss. Four months ago when Lady Dottie arrived as a mewling kitten, I was one of the dog-lovings, cat-disdaining husbands in America. Now I find my life is surrounded by four white paws. So are the lives of the rest of our family. WE SPEND MOST of our time now pleasing Lady Dottie. Her whims are getting more imperial every day. I can remember when Lady Dottie was overjoyed to get a can of cat food. Not now. The other night I arrived home and smelled a turkey roasting in the oven. "Who's coming to dinner — President Eisenhower?" I asked. "No," said my wife, Frances. "I just thought Lady Dottie was getting tired of beef liver. The turkey will make her feel better." I thought of observing that if I had asked for turkey it would have been granted only as a dejected request. But I held my peace. A husband who openly admits he is jealous of a cat has already lost his battle-plate. This attitude paid off. Lady Dottie let me have a fair share of the turkey. (Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — I was talking to the Attorney General of the United States at a very refined gathering in the home of a columning gentleman named Walter Lippmann the other evening when a good-looking young woman came up and launched me a remarkable recital. It was so unusual that I am setting it forth exactly as related, in the hope that not one delicate fact will be blurred. The young woman is Helen J. Sioussat, Embassy Row reporter for CBS. Arriving at the elegant affair, she checked in with the host and hostess, was introduced to this year's crop of new senators — whom the reception was for — and gravitated to our group by easy stages. She pulled on her long gloves to shake hands with Attorney General William P. Rogers, took them off again to snaffle a drink, put them on again to snare a canapé, and began, cold turkey: "The Finnish Ambassador, Madame Seppala, phoned me the other day and invited me to the Embassy. She said 'First we will have cocktails, then sauna, and then dinner.'" "I BEG PARDON," said Senator Frank Church, of Idaho, the youngest member of the Senate (who probably was too young to be listening), "I didn't get that part in between." "Neither did I," said Miss Sioussat. "However, I took it for granted it would be a rather formal party. So I put on my best cocktail gown, spent two hours at the hairdresser's having myself expensively coiffed, and presented myself at the Embassy." "Uh?" said Senator Stuart Symington, of Missouri, preoccupied with thoughts of 1950. Miss Sioussat continued: "Already present at the Embassy were three of Washington's most notable society chroniclers, Marie McNair, Lee Walsh, and Betty Beale. They were also gowned and hair-dressed 'til to kill." "We admired each other's gowns and coiffures. Then Madame Seppala said, 'We will now take off all our clothes.'" "Pardon me," said Attorney General Rogers, "I just remembered something I wanted to tell Walter Lippmann." You couldn't have torn me away at a moment like that, but I'm not as conservative as the Attorney General. "I asked the Ambassador why we should disrobe," said Miss Sioussat, "and she said we were going to have sauna. It took a little time to get it through our elegantly-waved heads that we were to have a Finnish bath." "MADAME SEPPALA led us into a room with a pot-bellied stove," said the radio raconteur. "It was red hot. Water was thrown on it, and the room turned to steam. All the time and money we had spent at the hairdresser's was wasted in a second." "The temperature was at least 150 foreignheat. Then we went to another room which was cold as ice. Our hostess said: 'Too bad we do not have snow today. In Finland we walk from the steam to the cold bath room through the snow. It is very invigorating.'" "Would anyone like hot coffee?" asked Mrs. Lippmann. "We took a cold shower," said Miss Sioussat, shivering reminiscently. "Then we returned to the hot room. Each of us was handed a spray of birch leaves and told to whack ourselves." "You mean that you—and Mrs. McNair—and Mrs. Walsh—and Miss Beale sat there birching yourselves?" I gasped. "Why?" "We were told it would whip up circulation." "I know some publishers who would love a sauna." "What?" "Nothing." The recital trailed off to an anti climax. Miss Sioussat said they got dressed and had dinner. (King Features Syndicate)

Missionary
Conference
Scheduled

ECKHART—The fifth annual World Vision Missionary Conference will be held in Eckhart Baptist Church and Calvary Baptist Church of Cresaptown, beginning Sunday and continuing through March 1. Services will be held simultaneously in the two churches with Africa, Israel, the Navajo Indians and the Philippine Islands being represented.

Missionaries engaged for the conference are: James Bisset, a veteran missionary of 19 years to Africa, who taught in the Bible School and Pastors Graduate School in Kijabe, serving as principal of both schools. While in the midst of the Mau Mau uprisings, he was imprisoned for three years in the prison camps.

Gerald Smelser is director of the Cleveland Hebrew Mission and oversees the work in Youngstown, Ohio, Charleston, W. Va., and Sao Paulo, Brazil. He also conducts a radio ministry over six Ohio and Pennsylvania stations and edits a quarterly publication, "The Trumpeter for Israel." He has traveled extensively in the Holy Land, and some in Europe and South America.

Ellis Gaston is a home missionary serving among the Navajo Indians in the southwestern United States.

Jerry Cosner has spent two terms in the Philippine Islands. He taught in the Baptist Bible Seminary of Manila.

Each missionary will speak two nights in each church. Films, slides and curios of the mission fields will be shown during the various sessions of the conference with services beginning at 7:30.

Barton Residents Plan
Meet To Map Water Issue

BARTON—A mass meeting will be held today at 7:30 p. m. in the home of Barton Post 189, American Legion, to discuss the possibilities of securing better water for the town.

Due to recent rains and thawing, water has been unfit for home purposes. Many consumers, it was reported, are considering drilling wells on their properties.

"This bad water situation has been going on for many, many years," a spokesman said. Plans to secure a physician for the community will also be discussed.

Mark Anniversary

The forty-fifth anniversary of the Barton Council 77, Daughters of America, was celebrated a recent evening with a dinner and Valentine party in Junior Order Hall with 27 members attending.

The council was organized January 14, 1914. Five of the original members attended the dinner. Valentines and handkerchiefs were exchanged.

Plans were made to hold a grocery games party February 28 at 7:45 p. m. Members voted to donate $5 to the Heart Fund drive.

Bill Would Provide Fire Tax In LaVale

Delegation Plans Introduction At Request Of Company

A bill to create a special taxing area for fire protection purposes in three Allegany County districts served by the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company was approved by the county's six delegates at a meeting this morning in Annapolis.

Del. Fred B. Driscoll, delegation chairman, said the bill will be introduced at the request of the fire company.

A spokesman for the unit said parts of Districts 5, 6 and 29 would be covered in the event the bill passes.

Referendum Provided

The measure provides for a referendum 90 days after June 1 when the bill would become effective and for public meetings prior to the voting to explain the purposes and effects of the measure.

A tax of not more than ten cents on each $100 of real property would be provided.

The fire company spokesman pointed out that a budget would be prepared that would include the department's income from festivals, carnivals and rental of the hall.

The overall figure would have the income deducted when it is presented to the Board of Allegany County Commissioners.

Would Levy Tax

Then the commissioners would levy the tax amount needed to provide the difference between the total amount, less the fire company's income.

This measure would provide the first fire tax in the county, and the department spokesman said it is being sponsored to bring about an equality of contribution toward fire protection.

The annual fund drive results in a few carrying the load of donations each year, with many residents failing to contribute, bill backers said.

In many cases the amount of the tax will be actually less than the residents' contributions, the spokesman said.

HI-POCKETS

...AND ANOTHER INTERESTING FACT—YOUR ANCESTORS ALWAYS PAID THEIR NEWSPAPER BOYS REGULARLY.

FARM ICE-OLATED—During the extremely frigid weather recently Town Creek froze into a solid mass and the thawing temperatures of last week caused large ice floes to block a low-water bridge near the farm of Lawrence Mallory along Lower Town Creek. The top picture shows the roadway near the farm lined with ice and a tree blocking the path of vehicles. In the lower picture can be seen three of Mallory's children as they worked to clear the ice floes from the bridge. The low-water structure is several hundred yards from the Mallory home and the children (left to right) Ann, Betty and Robert Mallory were unable to get across the stream to attend school at Oldtown, about six miles away.

Area Farmer Weathered In By Ice Floes

Low-Water Bridge Blocked During Recent Cold Wave

Rural living during the summer months is pleasant, but when winter arrives the problem of getting to and from town and to school becomes difficult at times.

Lawrence W. Mallory, who purchased the former McLaughlin farm along Lower Town Creek about five or six years ago has reported to the County Roads Department that ice floes from Town Creek blocked a low-water bridge near his farm during the recent sub-freezing weather.

Mallory said the bridge was built a short time before he purchased the property with materials furnished partly by the county. The Potomac Edison Company drilled the holes in the bedrock of the stream for the piers.

He intends to ask the county to maintain the bridge and also to give some relief from the problem caused by the approaches being washed out in time of high water. The bridge is used by many persons who have summer camps in the area. Large trucks and heavy equipment continue to ford the stream because the bridge is narrow and unable to support their weight.

The icing of the stream and resulting blockade of the bridge and parts of the road near the bridge approach poses a problem for him, Mallory said. Three of his children could not get across the bridge last week due to the ice floes which had been pushed onto the structure when a thaw set in, he pointed out.

In the spring when the creek rises due to rains and thawing of snow in the hills in that area debris collected on one side of the bridge and onto the structure itself, he said. The approaches are also washed away and it is impossible to get cars and light trucks across the bridge, Mallory said.

Moorefield Youth Faces Assault Count

Hardy County grand jurors at Moorefield yesterday returned two felony indictments against Robert Herman Shanholz, 16, who is accused of attacking a woman there.

Indicted on charges of rape and assault with intent to rape, the youth was examined this morning to determine his mental capabilities. He has been held in jail since the alleged attack last month.

Following his arrest in January, Shanholz waived a preliminary hearing and was incarcerated for grand jury action. Normally he would have been tried in Juvenile Court, but the nature of the case warranted stricter action.

Other felony indictments brought in by the jurors included: Otis Lee May, felonious assault; C. E. Payne, worthless check; Charles Junior Crawford, Frederick R. Metzger and Douglas Lurly Smith, breaking and entering.

Misdemeanor indictments were returned against Walter James Martin, motor charge; Otis Lee May, resisting arrest, and Benjamin D. Mathias, simple assault. Criminal trials are expected to begin March 23.

Former Ancelle Chemist Given New Position

J. Stewart Campbell, a research chemical engineer at the Ancelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America from 1941 through 1947, has been named manager of laboratory services at the central research laboratories in Summit, N. J.

He has been group leader in the physical research department at Summit since 1947. He later was section head of fiber spinning research and most recently was head of the spinning research laboratories.

The Celanese company also announced that Dr. William J. Evers has been named manager of the newly-created Exploratory Polymer Research Department at the Summit laboratories. Dr. Michael J. Curry has been named manager of the Plastics Research Department.

Rumors See Surprises In Appointments

Speculation Has Jewell, Phipps In New Appointments

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A reorganization of Maryland's "Tidewater Fisheries Commission was reported in the works today.

The report came as State House corridors were abuzz with word that John H. Jewell will become motor vehicles commissioner and will be succeeded on the "Tidewater Fisheries Commission by State Sen. Louis N. Phipps. Both are Democrats and Jewell is a former State senator.

There had been some speculation for days about the possible shifting of Jewell to the motor vehicles post when Gov. Tawes sends down his "green bag" full of appointments next Wednesday.

But Sen. Harry T. Phoebe (R-Sumner) touched off a new flurry yesterday when the present commissioner, James B. Monroe, appeared before the Senate Finance Committee to testify on budget requests for his motor vehicles department.

"You want to be sure and have that office in good shape to turn over to John Jewell," the crafty Republican senator told Monroe.

Monroe surprised members of the committee suggested that this post was tagged for Phipps.

"Oh no," explained Phoebe. "He's going to take Jewell's place on the 'Tidewater Fisheries Commission'."

No one in the governor's office would officially comment on the reports.

But since early this month informed sources have hinted that Tawes will have some surprises in his Green Bag on the fisheries commission.

The only member of the three-man agency whose term expires this year is Fred P. Glase of Baltimore. The third member is Chairman John P. Tawes of Crisfield, a Republican.

Under a new proposed compact, the fisheries commissions of Maryland and Virginia would make up a six-member unit administering conservation laws governing Potomac River fisheries.

Shake-up Hinted Some Marylanders have expressed apprehension about the make-up of their delegation to the bi-state commission, but sources close to the governor have hinted a shake-up of the Free State fisheries unit is in the offing.

One suggestion has been that Tawes may ask the Legislature to expand the membership of the agency as he already has done for the State Roads Commission.

The three-man roads unit would grow to seven members under an administration bill introduced last week and expected to sail through the Legislature.

Talk of the possible Jewell-Phipps switches catapulted Del. Ridgely P. Melvin Jr. (D-Anne Arundel) into the limelight as Phipps' likeliest successor in the Senate.

The 41-year-old chairman of the House Judiciary Committee has been one of the county's leading vote getters and is regarded as most acceptable to the county party committee, which would recommend a Senate replacement.

Committees Busy Virtually every major legislative committee was occupied today with hearings on pending legislation.

The Senate and House Judiciary committees launched into the second phase of their joint hearing on a bill to reorganize the Court of Appeals on which proponents testified last week. Opponents were set to get their innings this afternoon.

Also before the Senate Judiciary Committee was a proposal to extend urban renewal powers to counties and towns.

The House Agriculture and Natural Resources Committee scheduled hearings on five pieces of legislation, ranging from a proposed study of chemical additives in food to a bill which would reduce the time allowed for appeals from decisions of the Water Pollution Control Commission.

Tentative Approval In yesterday's developments: 1. The House tentatively approved a bill aimed at making

Zoning Board, LaVale Man File Appeal

Jurist Decided Against Board Which Sought Use Stoppage

An appeal has been filed with the Maryland Court of Appeals from a decision of Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris against the LaVale Zoning Board.

The appeal was taken by the LaVale board and Arnold M. Arnone, a party plaintiff to the appeal and a resident of LaVale. Leslie J. Clark is attorney for the appellants.

Judge Harris ruled against the Zoning Board in an appeal which was heard before him last month. Harry P. and Dorothy E. Lucas, owners of a property which the Rish Equipment Company wanted to rent, filed the appeal in Circuit Court as the aggrieved parties.

The Zoning Board had denied the Rish firm an occupancy permit to use the Lucas building. The Lucas couple had operated a truck repair and sales business on the premises for some years and had a permit on a non-conforming use basis.

Judge Harris ruled in his decision on the Lucas appeal that the Rish firm's use of the property would only be an "intensification" of the non-conforming use which had been in effect previously.

The Rish firm said it would sell and service heavy duty equipment such as graders, loaders and similar construction equipment. They also said in their application they would do repair work mostly in the field when equipment would become disabled and not on the garage premises.

Action Taken On Bills By Senator See

Action was taken today in the State Senate on three Allegany County bills, Sen. Charles M. See announced today.

This morning Sen. See gave a favorable report on Senate Bill 58 which would provide for $50 monthly pension payments to retired Allegany County school teachers.

He said three clarifying amendments were added to the bill, with one defining certain words. Another states that if the state increases its share in the teacher pension, the payment would be null and void.

Sen. See said he will introduce later today a bill concerning the Allegany County Sheriff's office, which he said he understands has been agreed to by the county commissioners.

The measure provides for the sheriff to have free rent and maintenance in the living quarters adjacent to the jail.

The senator said this has always been considered part of the sheriff's salary which is only $4000 a year. If the rent is not provided, he explained, then the salary should be raised.

The bill also allows deputies to eat their meals at the jail when they are on duty.

And lastly, it authorizes or enables the appointment of a clerk-bookkeeper for the sheriff at a salary in agreement with the county commissioner and the sheriff.

This clerk is to make all reports to the court, judge and county commissioners, Sen. See said.

Sen. See also introduced today a bill providing that sales contracts should be kept on file for five years. In this county, they have been kept for three years.

To Speak In Florida Henry K. Duke, this city, will speak at the national mid-year meeting of the National Association of Mutual Insurance Agents at Hollywood Beach, Fla.

Japanese Beetle Fight In Area Apparently Won

After more than 25 years the battle against Japanese beetles in this area seems to have been won.

At least in the opinion of George S. Langford, state entomologist at the University of Maryland.

In a letter to Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent, he said that the milky disease program which has been in effect in Allegany County for some years will be discontinued this year as the Japanese beetles have been reduced to a point where they have the status of "native pests."

As a result of the plans to discontinue the program of spreading the milky disease will save Allegany County $800 annually. The county commissioners have been appropriating this amount for the past few years for the retardation program.

During the coming summer a limited amount of spore dust will be available for the areas with acute or serious Japanese beetle infestation. For the most part this will be limited to public property and only in emergencies will private land be sprayed with the spore dust, according to Langford.

It is expected that the Japanese beetle population will be high in some new suburban developments where great amounts of soil have been disturbed. The use of bulldozers in turning soil disturbs the upper layers of soil and there is often a tremendous increase in Japanese beetles due to the parasites and milky disease which are in the soil being disturbed.

Within a few years these two antidotes for the beetles will re-establish themselves in areas of high beetle infestation. Langford pointed out.

In the beginning of the program in the early 1930's a system of "roadblocks" were set up and a quarantine system used to prevent cars from transporting plants and foods on which Japanese beetles might be found.

The tipha wasp was the parasite which was first introduced in Allegany County seven or eight years ago. It fed on the larvae of the Japanese beetles.

A general meeting of workers who are planning a spaghetti supper and carnival at St. Mary's Church will be held Friday at 8:30 p. m. in the parish hall.

The affair is being co-sponsored by the parish and Wamba Caravan 89, Order of Alhambra, Knights of Columbus, on March 1 in the St. Mary's Hall.

Joseph Divico, general chairman, said all workers from the parish and wives and members of the Alhambra should attend Friday's meeting.

The supper is being held for the benefit of the church's building fund.

McDonald Made Fire Lieutenant

Two orders affecting the Fire Department were approved at Monday's meeting of the Mayor and City Council.

Commissioner Philmore F. Fleming's order regarding the appointment of a lieutenant in the department was approved, as was his request for a leave of absence for a fireman who has been absent from his duties because of illness.

Harold L. McDonald was promoted to lieutenant from the position of chauffeur and mechanic. The order noted that McDonald was on the promotional list for lieutenant and had been certified by the Civil Service Board. Fleming said the department has been short a lieutenant since last July. McDonald's salary in his new position was set at $316 monthly.

The leave of absence was approved for William L. Feeney, effective February 27 when he will have used up all his vacation time. Following the council action, the order was referred to the Civil Service Board for approval.

Woman Gets Jury Verdict

A Mineral County jury today granted Mrs. Edith Flanagan, McMullen Highway, a joint judgment of $12,500.

Mrs. Flanagan filed a $15,000 suit against Sheriff Walter O. Mott, administrator of the estate of the late Lonnie Dayton, and the Osgood Bus Line.

Today's case finished the civil cases being heard by this term of court in Keyser.

Mrs. Flanagan sued for damages for injuries she said she received when a bus on which she was a passenger was rammed from the rear by a car driven by Dayton.

The accident occurred on Memorial Bridge in Keyser on October 29, 1957. Dayton was killed in the collision.

Mrs. Flanagan was represented by Attorneys H. R. Athey and H. G. Shares of Keyser.

PRESENTED CITATIONS—The National Conference of Christians and Jews presented citations to three Cumberland men last night at the first annual Brotherhood dinner. They are, left to right, John H. Mosner, local banker; former Chief Judge D. Lindley Sloan and Robert A. Kaplan, Dr. Louis A. Radelet, of New York City, director of the Commission on Community Organizations of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, was the speaker. He is a former teacher at the University of Notre Dame.

When George Lauder dumped in that field goal in the last 11 seconds of play last night against Beall at Lonaconing to give Valley High the Western Maryland Interscholastic League championship, he turned back the clock for his coach.

Johnny Meyers' thoughts flashed back 24 years when he was a senior on the 1935 Lonaconing team that finished in a last place tie. Johnny Meyers with Barton, Central was only two games of 12 that year which found Penn Avenue of Cumberland finishing on top with an 11-1 mark.

Although his Black Knights have achieved great success at Valley, Meyers had never enjoyed the wonderful feeling of being associated with a team that topped the WMU crown outright until last night. Two years ago Valley shared the league hunting with Allegany and the only other taste a Lonaconing school had of the championship cake was in 1943 when Central beat Allegany in a playoff at Frostburg.

Even though he was deprived of playing on a little basketball team in high school, Meyers must be considered one of the keenest students of the game ever to don the uniform of the Orange and Black. He went on to set a Maryland scoring record (later wiped out) while playing for Frostburg State Teachers College and has since established himself as one of the top coaches in the tri-state area.

As a senior at Central, Johnny tallied 147 points in 12 WMU League games, finishing second behind William (Red) Miller of Allegany who had 158. One of the best games of his career was turned in at Allegany when he kept the Tigers in the thick of the battle with a seven-goal performance. Also was heavily favored in hal one but halfway through the final period it was still anybody's game, the Campers leading 32-30. The locals finally won, 42-31.

Meyers was a guard on that 1935 Central team, along with Arch Stewart. John Dunn was center while the forwards were Tony Popolo and Walt Bumbrough. The coach was John Armstrong, a man who is still held in high regard by Meyers.

Armstrong, who came here from New Kensington, Pa., had a lot of good ideas about basketball and Meyers said it was he who introduced the fast break in this area as a lethal offensive weapon.

Meyers, who led Valley to two state "B" championships and took the Knights to the semi-finals on two other occasions, credits Armstrong with teaching him much of the knowledge he has gained in the hardword sport. In fact, the Valley mentor still uses part of the offense that Armstrong taught.

Armstrong coached at Central from 1932 through 1937, then returned to New Kensington High where he is still serving as track coach. Armstrong also was line coach on several of New Kensington's highly-fought football teams and a few years ago just about every member of his entire forward wall moved into the big-time college ranks.

Corle Toast Of Bowie

Seven winners in two days and nine in 13. That's the record of apprentice jockey Bobby Corle going into today's nine-race session at Bowie.

The former 90-pound Bedford High wrestler gave Maryland racers something to talk about yesterday when he finished first in four races, three of his wins coming in a row.

The 22-year-old saddlesmith from Junder, Pa., who got his start four years ago at Cumberland's Fairgo track, had a hand in the production of a $447.40 (2-7) daily double when he won on Dear Delinquent in the second race, the victor paying $19.60.

Corle won the fourth with Disarmed, a $4.80 favorite; the fifth with Jolly Rhymer, an $8.80 shot, and the sixth with Sun Again ($7). Sun Again is owned by John S. Kelly, Bobby's contract employer.

The Bowie sensation, who is five winners ahead of second-place Raul Sterling, received his early education from the late Bill Irvin who took a liking to the Bedford County kid when he wandered into the Fairgo track in 1955.

Carolina, NC State In Crucial Game Tonight

Wolfpack's Basketeers Could Take First Place

By The Associated Press

"It's been a long climb and we intend to stay up there," said Harvey Salz, star player of North Carolina's first-ranked basketball team.

North Carolina State's revenge-minded Wolfpack will do everything possible to start the Tar Heels on a fast descent in their game at Chapel Hill tonight.

Just five weeks ago State was knocked out of first place by North Carolina, then ranked third, in a 72-68 overtime battle at Raleigh.

The Tar Heels, undefeated in the Atlantic Coast Conference, boast a 16-1 record for the season. Their only loss was to Michigan State. The Wolfpack, 12-1 in the conference and 18-2 overall, could jump into first place in ACC standings with a victory tonight.

Terps At Virginia

It will be State's final ACC game. Conference leader North Carolina still must play Duke, Maryland and Virginia.

The rest of the schedule tonight has Maryland at Virginia and South Carolina meeting Georgia in Augusta, Ga.

Duke got a stronger grip on third place in the conference last night by whipping fourth-ranked Wake Forest 65-78. Sophomore Carroll Young kn scored 30 points for Duke.

The victory was Duke's sixth in 12 conference games. The Demons now are 4-7 in the loop.

Oscar Robertson Eyes Scoring Record

By United Press International

Oscar Robertson, who established another University of Cincinnati scoring record without drawing a deep breath, today set his sights on one of Frank Selvy's major college marks.

The 6-foot-5 "Big O" became the highest scoring player in Cincinnati history Tuesday night when he whipped the Bearcats in a run-away 102-71 victory over Miami of Ohio.

Robertson now has totaled 1,612 points in less than two seasons, surpassing the old Cincinnati career record of 1,598, set by Jack Twyman during a four-year term with the Bearcats. His next objective is the major college two-year record of 1,947 points, set by Selvy when he was running wild for Furman five years ago.

Will Need Luck

In order to even approach that mark Robertson will have to maintain his current 33-point average in Cincinnati's remaining seven regular-season games. And then he would have to add at least another 100 points in the NCAA tournament.

So the odds appear stacked against him at this stage of the campaign, but based on his latest performance, he could make it with a little bit of luck.

Tuesday night's game on the Bearcats' home court, Robertson accounted for 15 of his team's first 27 points. He wound up with 17 field goals and converted 9 of 13 free throws. It was the 17th victory in 19 games for the Bearcats, who are odds-on favorites to represent the Missouri Valley Conference in the NCAA slugging.

Marquette, meanwhile, became the first team to accept an "at large" berth in the NCAA tournament while St. Bonaventure accepted a bid to the National Invitation Tournament.

Louises Enter NIT

Marquette, which has won 17 of 20 games under former St. Louis coach Eddie Hickey, turned down an NIT bid to join the NCAA field. The Warriors will play in the Midwest regionals at Lexington, Ky., starting March 10.

St. Bonaventure became the fourth team to enter the NIT field, joining St. John's, Villanova and Oklahoma City. The Bonnies, coached by Eddie Donovan, have a 15-2 record.

In Tuesday night's other major games, Southern Methodist remained in the thick of the Southwest Conference race by bowing over Texas, 78-61. Duke took over sole possession of third place in the Atlantic Coast Conference by turning back Wake Forest, 85-78, and Duquesne gained a 65-37 victory over Dayton, an NIT hopeful.

Schaus Banks On Bolyard In Tilt With Pitt

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — West Virginia basketball coach Fred Schaus is hopeful scrappy Bucky Bolyard can turn in another of his brilliant defensive jobs tonight.

The 5-foot-11 Aurora, W. Va., senior no doubt will be called upon to put a damper on the scoring efforts of All-American Don Hennon when the Mountaineers face Pitt's Panthers.

West Virginia will be seeking its 21st win in 25 starts and sixth in a row over Pitt. The last time the Panthers whipped WVU was in the final regular-season game of 1956 by a 94-77 margin.

In the first meeting of the two teams this season, West Virginia posted a 73-64 victory after trailing 34-32 at halftime.

Bolyard, who has vision in only one eye, was assigned the task of guarding Hennon after the 5-foot-8 Wannum, Pa., fireball made four of his first five shots.

He turned in such a good job that Hennon had only 13 points when he left the game on fouls. And at the same time, Bucky scored 22 points of his own.

Rickey Claims Time Is Ripe For Expansion

NEW YORK (AP) — Branch Rickey says the "time for expansion to a third major league in baseball is here now, not five or 10 years from now."

The third league, the chairman of the board of the Pittsburgh Pirates contends, "should come about under the structure of organized baseball and with the aid and guidance of the American and National leagues."

Rickey now in semi-retirement, lashed out at major league club owners for their inaction at the sportsmanhood brotherhood's awards luncheon honoring Stan Musial Tuesday.

Brushes Off Frick

Rickey brushed off Commissioner Ford Frick's proposal for eventual expansion to two 10 or 12 team leagues as unworkable, and blamed the major leagues for pointing the minor leagues toward financial doom by their quest for television gold.

"I know there is enough manpower and funds available for a third major league and you can be sure the club owners know it, too," Rickey said.

"There are at least 16 cities that want major league baseball and could support it," he added, and then listed two "musts" for formation of a new league.

New York Needed

One, he said, there must be a franchise for New York — and two, it must be done under strict guidance by the present leagues.

The latter was in reference to the so-called "outlaw" league proposed several months ago by the New York Mayor's Committee on Baseball if a third league is impossible under the framework of organized baseball.

He listed as cities ready for major league baseball Montreal, Toronto, Buffalo, Miami, Atlanta, New Orleans, Birmingham, Houston, Denver, Fort Worth-Dallas, San Diego, Minneapolis-St. Paul, Portland and Seattle.

Arnette Signs Colt Contract

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Colts announced today that Jerry Arnette and Jesse Arnette have signed contracts for the 1959 National Football League season.

Richardson was selected by the Colts in the 13th round of the 1958 draft. He was a standout passer at Woodford College, Spartanburg, S. C. last season.

Arnette, who played football and basketball at Penn State, was the Los Angeles Rams' 10th draft choice in 1955. He decided on professional football, however, and played a year with the Fort Wayne Pistons before entering the Army.

Championship Fight May Be On Home TV

NEW YORK (UPI) — The nation's armchair fight fans may yet be treated to a "home telecast" of the upcoming heavyweight title bout between Floyd Patterson and Ingemar Johansson.

Promoter Bill Rosenzohn and Patterson's manager, Gus D'Amato, revealed Tuesday that they now favor home TV "regardless where the bout is staged."

"Because of repeated criticisms that Patterson is practically an unknown champion, I believe the public would get a greater appreciation of his ability if everyone was able to see him in action," said D'Amato.

"It's a very good idea," agreed Rosenzohn. "Let the public become familiar with him and get an estimate of his real class."

Huskies Halt LaSalle Quint

LaSalle High's cagers dropped back to the .500 class last night when Northern squared their season series by posting a 60-58 at Accident. The Explorers had won a close one here, 60-57, and are now 10-10 for the campaign while Northern is 10-6.

The Huskies pulled away with 4:20 remaining after LaSalle had moved within two points (53-51) of a tie. Two quick buckets by Grandel McGraw, another by George Patton and a pair of penalty pitches by Gary Hetrick led the winners with 18 points while Patton and Dick Spear led 17 apiece. Sub forward Mike Pirie hooped 15 for the locals and Mike Mackert came through with 14.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — Bill Dabbs, a Buffalo defenseman who lost an eye in an American Hockey League game last December, will receive close to $25,000 from a special benefit game played between his teammates and a National Hockey League all-star squad.

The National League stars scored three goals in each of the first two periods to win Tuesday night's game, 6-2, and then Bill Dabbs tallied twice in the final period to provide local fans with something to cheer about.

Vecek Happy To Be 'Home' With Chisox

CHICAGO (AP) — Bill Vecek, a balding, sweating promoter who is glad to be back home in baseball, vows he will not transfer the Chicago White Sox baseball franchise.

"I've been trying to come back home for 18 years," said Vecek, a native Chicagoan, "and now that I'm here I have no intention of leaving."

This was an informal Vecek speaking Tuesday night hours after his much publicized conference in which he exercised his option to buy the 54 per cent of Sox stock held by Dorothy Comiskey Rigney for $2,700,000.

The closing of the deal was set for March 31 although Vecek said he would try his utmost to complete the transaction before then.

What about Chuck Comiskey who owns 46 per cent of the Sox stock?

Vecek said: "We hope we'll be able to work out an amicable and friendly solution to keep Chuck and the Comiskey name up front in Chicago as it should be. We want to win a pennant. We're not interested in any controversy. Our only controversy will be with the New York Yankees."

Comiskey refused to comment on Vecek's move to exercise the option.

Liston Choice Over De John

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Two of the hardest punches in the heavyweight ranks — Sonny Liston and Mike De John — will aim their bombshells at one another tonight, and the odds are two to one the fight won't go the scheduled 10 rounds.

A nationwide TV audience (ABC) will look in and among the hidden audience, in all probability, will be world heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson, who will certainly have to figure the man who wins into his future plans.

The betting is 8-5 that the match will be Liston.

Liston is ranked the ninth contender by Ring Magazine and 10th by the National Boxing Association. De John is rated ninth by the NBA and 10th by the magazine.

ACC Point Lead At Stake Tonight

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP) — The individual scoring showdown which has been brewing in the Atlantic Coast Conference comes to the boiling point at Chapel Hill tonight when North Carolina takes on North Carolina State.

Center John Richter of N. C. State, who has led the ACC in point-making since the third week of the season, finds North Carolina sophomore ace York Larese close enough to wrest the lead from his grasp.

Richter boats an average of 16.9 points a game through 20 contests. Larese has a 16.5-point average through 17 games.

ACC Service Bureau figures through games of last Saturday night also show that there is at least one other player with a chance to overtake Richter. He is Howard Hurt of Duke, who is third behind Larese at 15.9 points a game.

North Carolina tops team scoring at 73.3 points a game and field goal shooting at 44.2 per cent. Maryland leads defense at 56.4 points a game. State rebounding at 49.1 a game and Clemson free throw shooting at 72.4 per cent.

Donald Crisp Makes TV Debut On Playhouse 90

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Some times you wonder if perhaps you waited too long to die. You sit around the house and you find nothing to do. Life begins to lose its meaning. That's when it's time to go back to work."

Donald Crisp was explaining why he still is active in movies and now is making his first dip into television. At 78, he can look back on a full life.

He was one of the founders of the motion picture industry, became a top director of silent films, then one of the most reliable of character actors. The industry gave him an Academy Award for his performance in "How Green Was My Valley" in 1941.

Financial rewards have been his, too. The great banking tycoon A. P. Giannini enlisted Crisp's help when the Bank of Italy (now [America] began financing movies. The actor became a director of the bank and estimates that he helped loan 300 million dollars to film producers.

After a busy life, Crisp looked forward to spending his late years with the hobbies and interests he neglected in more than 50 years of movie making. But personal tragedy intervened.

"My wife (Jane Murfin) died two years ago," he said. "It was a great loss to me. She was a writer, you know—wrote 'Smiling Through.' We had always discussed our work together."

"I was very lonely. More and more of the people I knew in the industry—Jesse Lasky, Tyrone Power, Cecil De Mille—were dying off."

So he returned to work. He turned in his usual polished performance as the cardinal who opposed politico Spencer Tracy in "The Last Hurrah."

"This Thursday he is making his TV debut in a drama over CBS' Playhouse 90. I had to pick a 90-minute live show to make my television debut," he exclaimed. "I must have been crazy."

"Being new to the medium, I guessed it would be like doing films. So I took my script and went home and memorized the whole thing. That's from my training as a director; I always learn everyone else's lines, too."

"When I got to the first rehearsal, they told me to forget the first script—everything had been changed!"

A store owner responsible for the sale of morally objectionable literature on his premises. But by a 61-59 vote the delegates refused to accept a provision under which the more display of literature regarded as fit for adult consumption would be proof that it was intended for illegal sale to children under 18 as well.

This vote was regarded as a sign that movie censorship legislation which is also before the House may be decided by a close margin.

2. Commercial watermen backed up by marine scientists and sports fishermen clashed again at a hearing on a bill to ban rockfishing in January and February. The session, lasting two hours and 45 minutes, left opponents of the ban more hopeful they would be able to beat it for the fourth straight time since 1930.

3. The House Judiciary Committee voted in favor of a bill to integrate the Montrose Training School for Girls, just north of Baltimore, then reconsidered its action and decided to take another vote later this week. The original vote was 9-5 for the bill with six members abstaining and 15 others absent.

A&P, Retail Clerks Sign New Contract

A contract has been signed by Local 886, Retail Clerks Union, AFL-CIO, with the A&P Markets covering employees in markets in Cumberland, Frostburg, Lonaconing, Westernport, Keyser, Romney and Petersburg, according to William Hartman, union business agent.

Hartman said approximately 250 persons are covered in the various markets, with almost 100 being employed in the two A&P markets in Cumberland.

The one-year contract becomes effective March 9 and provides for 14 cents an hour increase for men and 12 cents for women workers. Part-time employees will receive 14 cents an hour increase.

A seniority clause has been included in the pact. Part-time workers who work full-time four consecutive weeks will be then classified as full-time employees. Night employees who work in stocking foods will get a 10-hour rest period between shifts. In the event they are required to work without the rest period their pay will be at the rate of time and one-half.

In weeks where there is a holiday the employees will get time and one-half after 32 hours. There are six paid holidays, Hartman said.

Workers with 20 years service will be given four weeks paid vacation, he added. Employees who work three or more hours over the regular work schedule will receive a paid 20-minute lunch period.

Charles A. Rodda, Detroit, a cousin, Mrs. Margaret Layman, Frostburg; a nephew, Rev. Arthur B. Smith, Port Huron, Mich., and two nieces, Mrs. William Nixon and Mrs. Philip Moncur, both of Detroit.

Services and burial were conducted Saturday in Chelsea.
